NOTICE TO STUDENT RECIPIENT OF GREEKKEYS 2008 THROUGH INSTRUCTIONAL SUPPLEMENT TO DEPARTMENTAL LICENSE

You are being provided with the GreekKeys 2008 keyboard and fonts package as a student of ancient Greek in a college or university program that has paid for an extension to a departmental license for this software package. Please note the conditions under which you are granted use of this package. If you are unwilling to abide by these conditions, do not install this software on your computer.

1. You are granted permission to use this software during the course of your degree studies. Upon completion of your degree or upon other final separation from the program that provided you with this software, you are expected to remove this software from your computer, or to obtain your own licensed individual copy if you wish to continue to use GreekKeys 2008 keyboards and fonts.

2. You may share this software with other students enrolled in ancient Greek courses at the same institution, but not with anyone else, and you should provide others with the entire package, unaltered, and with a copy of this sheet.

3. You may not post this software package or parts of it to any public web site or file-sharing service.

TO USE THIS SOFTWARE

1. Your department or instructor will lend you a CD or USB flash drive from which you should copy the folder "GreekKeysUnicode2008" to your own computer before returning the source media to your department or instructor.

2. First read the document QuickStartMac.pdf or QuickStartWindows.pdf for the essentials about installing and using the software.

3. For further information, read GKU2008userguideRevA.pdf, especially pages 6 to 21 for Mac users or pages 22 to 37 for Windows users.

4. Additional information and troubleshooting advice are available at the GreekKeys Help Site. The new URL for this site is http://apagreekkeys.org (but the URL in the PDF documentation will also take you to the same place).
